To Defend a $10B Valuation, Quince Must Evolve Beyond "Transactional Dupe"

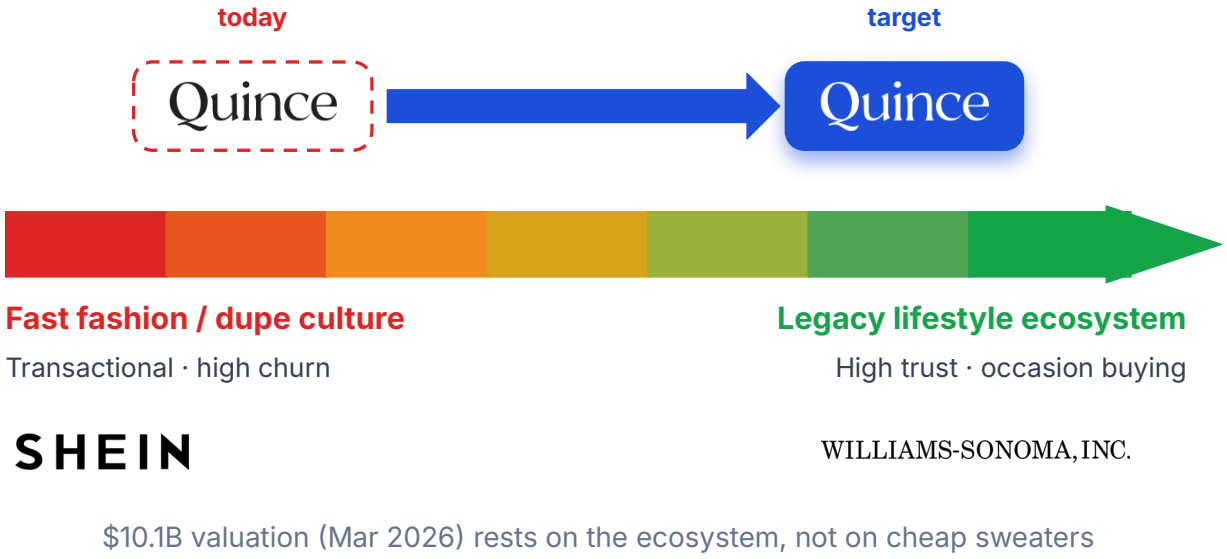

Quince G27

CAC is diverging from customer value

Index, two years ago = 100

Where Quince must move

$10.1B valuation (Mar 2026) rests on the ecosystem, not on cheap sweaters

- Rented channels (60% of budget) suffer from compounding signal loss: iOS opt-in ~35–50%, Safari and Firefox block cookies
- Discount-led retention trains customers to wait for sales, destroying the M2C margin

Source: case Exhibits B, G, H; Reuters (Mar 2026, $10.1B valuation); Adjust and AppsFlyer ATT benchmarks. LTV line is illustrative: the case gives one LTV point, held flat absent retention gains.

3 Owned-Channel Engines Built for Cross-Category Adoption

Quince G27

Quince Passport

Mechanic

Exclusive early access to high-AOV category drops (Home, Luggage) for top-decile cohorts

Target

Drive cross-selling into higher-value categories

Material Journeys

Mechanic

Triggered post-purchase SMS on material origin (e.g. Mongolian cashmere) and fabric care, before the item arrives

Target

Win the weeks 1–4 window: 5.6% engaged vs ~1%

The Gifting Ledger

Mechanic

Occasion-based CRM (birthdays, anniversaries) with curated, factory-direct jewelry and home gift guides

Target

Build credibility in high-consideration categories

+11 supporting programs (Appendix) · zero discounts · $0 new budget · every engine tested against a CJA holdout

Source: team strategy; Adobe CJA (Cohort Table, category repeat: Home 20.8% vs cashmere 13.7%; jewelry 19.5%); case Exhibit F (jewelry repeat driven by gifting).

Evolving from Batch-and-Blast to Logistics-Integrated Pods

Quince G27

- Requires shifting from siloed channel owners to cross-functional pods
- Success depends on wiring factory shipping milestones directly into marketing triggers (Material Journeys)

Readiness

Data and identity	Ready
Lifecycle team and creative	Build
Shipping events → triggers	Integrate
Incentives: ROAS → incrementality	Change

Quince's edge is cross-border logistics; marketing plugs into that data

A5 · Logistics Integration Roadmap for Material Journeys

Quince G27

If asked: "How hard is Material Journeys to actually build?"

Build sequence

1. Weeks 1–4
   Map shipping events; confirm consent split
2. Weeks 5–8
   Stream events into CJA; build audiences
3. Weeks 9–12
   Launch pre-arrival journeys in the South pilot

Low tech lift: the shipping events already exist; the work is routing them to CJA audiences and lifecycle triggers

Source: team architecture; Adobe CJA and Journey Optimizer as the activation layer (case Exhibit L). Timings are team estimates.
